SAMMONS GETS LIFE IN PRISON FROM IND. JURY

Killer-Rapist Is Found to Be an Habitual Criminal There

BULLETIN

Michigan City, Ind., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Manacled with handcuffs and leg irons, James (Fur) Sammons was rushed secretly and under heavy guard today into the Indiana state penitentiary to spend the rest of his life behind bars as an habitual criminal.

Crown Point, Ind., Dec. 1.—(AP)—For the second time in his varied career of crime James (Fur) Sammons, killer, rapist, and Chicago public enemy, today faced the prospect of spending the rest of his days in prison.

The sentence was the state of Indiana's Thanksgiving Day present to him, and unlike the first time that Sammons went up for life 30 years ago in Illinois after escaping the gallows by a day for a murder, it resulted from a comparatively minor charge—attempted bribery of an officer.

However, in convicting him of that the jury also found him guilty of being an habitual criminal, which carries a mandatory life sentence in Indiana.

Says Witnesses Lied

Just before sentence was passed last night by Judge William J. Murray in Circuit Court while deputy sheriffs armed with shotguns and machine guns guarded the corridors and outside of the court house, Sammons asked to be heard. "If I'm sent up for life, it will be because the witnesses have lied to me," he said.

After dodging Chicago officers who wanted him for forfeiture of bond last summer in connection with a robbery case and evading extradition to Baltimore on a similar charge at least three times, Sammons fell into the arms of the law in Indiana for intoxication.

He was picked up several weeks ago at Cedar Lake by Deputy Sheriff John Cook and was not identified until he had been placed in a jail cell. But, on the way to jail, Cook said, the fugitive attempted to bribe him with an offer of $200 and it was upon that that the state's case was built.

Too Five Bailiffs

The jury required almost five and a half hours to reach a verdict but said that only five preliminary bailiffs were taken before agreement was reached. After sentence was passed prosecutors said Sammons would be taken to the Michigan City prison as soon as possible.

His Criminal Career

His first encounter with the law came in 1900 when he was convicted and sentenced to five years for the rape of a 11-year-old girl the previous year. He served three years and was then paroled.

In 1903, the year of his release, he was convicted of the murder of a saloon keeper and the following year won a commutation to life imprisonment from a death sentence the day before he was to be hanged in Illinois.

Then in 1917 he escaped from prison; was captured and returned and stayed until 1923 when he won another commutation that led to a parole. Meanwhile, Baltimore authorities sought him but each of the three times Sammons was arrested he managed to evade extradition.

Three years ago he was returned to the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet but was released last year on a writ of habeas corpus by Judge Edward Shurtleff of Woodstock, Ill. Last summer he was nabbed again for Chicago authorities and after posting bond, vanished until his arrest in Indiana.

The cost of flying a mile has been reduced by 50 per cent since 1926. At that time it cost about 12 cents to travel a mile by airplane.

There are 14,000 licensed pilots and 11,000 student pilots in the United States, and only 7,000 licensed aircraft, of which 600 are connected with scheduled airlines.

Iowa Girl, Former Follower of Gandhi, Now Claims Her Name is Janet Gaynor; Is Awaiting Money

New Delhi, India, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The case of Nila Cram Cook of Iowa, former follower of the Mahatma Gandhi, today had developed into somewhat of a mystery for the local authorities.

Despite her police identification as the former Gandhi disciple, she claimed that her name really is Janet Gaynor, the same as the motion picture actress. She registered under that name in a local hotel. Waited upon by hotel managers and shop keepers, who said she had

FORMER SHERIFF GEO. STAINBROOK DIED WEDNESDAY

Well Known Native of Lee Co. Called By His Maker

George F. Stainbrook, former sheriff of Lee county, and resident of Dixon for the past 50 years, passed away Wednesday evening at his home, 401 East Third street, at 8 o'clock. He had been in failing health for several months, suffering from complications. Funeral services, which will be strictly private will be held from the late home Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Gilbert Stansell, pastor of the Methodist church officiating, and with interment in Oakwood.

George F. Stainbrook was born in Viola township, September 11, 1858 and had been a life long resident of Lee county. For the past 51 years he had made his home in Dixon. He followed the vocation of farming in his young manhood, and in the late 80's was appointed deputy sheriff of Lee county, which brought about his removal to Dixon. In 1890, after serving eight years as a deputy, he was elected sheriff and served his term as a faithful and efficient officer. On Oct. 16, 1890, he was united in marriage to Miss Anna B. Mulkins in this city, who survives him.

At the close of his administration as sheriff, he continued to make his home in Dixon. When elected he was one of the youngest sheriffs in the history of Lee county, and throughout his life was an active Republican. He was well known throughout the county by the older residents, he having taken no active part in county politics or affairs for the past several years.

Peoria Postmaster Feels Farley's Ax

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Postoffice Department officials said today the date for the removal of Louis J. Gauss, Peoria, Ill. Postmaster, from office for alleged "political activities" had been set for next January 15.

His removal had been deferred, postoffice officials said, in view of the holiday season and the attendant crush of business.

Joseph W. Jeffries, Assistant Postmaster at Peoria, will succeed Gauss as Acting Postmaster.

CWA Lottery Will Allocate New Jobs

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The Illinois Civil Works Administration will set up job lotteries to determine who gets the second $3,500 CWA job, it was announced today.

"We've decided this is the only fair way," said Chairman Robert J. Dunham.

"Some such absolutely impartial method is necessary, especially in Cook county, where indications are that six men will register for each job we'll have available."

ADOLPH EICHLER DIED SUDDENLY; FUNERAL TODAY

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Veteran Merchant on Wednesday

Adolph Eichler, last member of the original firm of Eichler brothers, prominent Dixon merchants, who for many years have conducted the Bee Hive store and Annex on First street, passed away suddenly Wednesday afternoon at his home, 417 North Hennepin avenue at 4 o'clock. He had gone to the store as was his custom Wednesday morning and appeared in his usual health. At about 10:30 he suffered a heart attack and was removed to his home, where he received medical attention. His condition did not improve and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon he expired. Mr. Eichler had been in ill health several weeks ago and for some time his condition was quite critical. News of his sudden passing came as a distinct shock to all who knew him.

Mr. Eichler was born in Budapest, Hungary, July 19, 1870, coming to the United States in his young manhood and in 1891 established the mercantile establishment in this city which he has continued to operate. His brother, the late Max Eichler, who passed away, April 2, 1931, was associated with him in the highly successful business, which started from a small shop to the present department store, with another branch operating in Amboy.

In Business 42 Years
Mr. Eichler was one of the most prominent and successful merchants of northern Illinois and had been engaged in the retail mercantile business for a period of 42 years. He was of a quiet disposition, pleasant and agreeable at all times, and took a great interest in the development, growth and prosperity of Dixon.

He was outstandingly prominent in fraternal circles, having been Past Master of Friendship lodge, No. 7, A. F. & A. M.; Past High Priest of Nachusa Chapter, No. 56, R. A. M.; and a member of Dixon lodge No. 779, B. P. O. Elks; Dixon lodge No. 1, O. E. F.; Dorothy Chapter, O. E. S.; and Dixon camp, No. 56, M. W. A. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Emma Eichler; two sons, Victor of this city and Sidney J. of Cleveland, Ohio; one brother, Isador Eichler of this city and two sisters, Mrs. Morris Schutzbarger of Chicago and another sister residing in Europe.

Officers of Friendship lodge, No. 7, A. F. & A. M. conducted their ritual at the services which were conducted at the Brinton Memorial Masonic Temple this morning at 10:30, after which the body was taken to Chicago for interment in the Oak Ridge Jewish cemetery on the Roosevelt and Mannheim road. The pall bearers were Lee Head, Harry Stauffer, George Becking, Mark C. Keller, N. H. Jensen and J. B. Lennon.

Every business house in the city closed from 10 to 11 o'clock this morning in respect to the departed merchant.

Complete Liberty or Death Will Be Demand of Dr. Alice Wynekoop Her Attorney Says in Statement

Woman Will Not Resort to Insanity Plea, He States

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Complete liberty or death today was indicated as the demand the defense will make for Dr. Alice Wynekoop accused of murdering her daughter-in-law, Rheta.

Dispelling the belief held in some quarters that Dr. Wynekoop might have a plea of insanity made in her behalf if she is tried for Rheta's death, Frank Tyrrel, her attorney said that such a thing "is the furthestest from her mind." "Dr. Wynekoop," would not taint her family with the blemish of insanity. A woman with such a brilliant mind and with such an excellent family would have no such thought as that.

"We want complete liberty or we want death. Dr. Alice wants it. There can be no middle ground. It was not necessary for all the alienists to make their studies."

Shell Stay in Jail

Dr. Wynekoop, who is suffering from hardening of the arteries, is content to remain in jail while she recuperates her health. Attorney Tyrrel said indicating however that she would renew his fight for her release on bond as soon as the shows signs of physical improvement.

The state was still undecided what to do about the doctor's son, Earle, who was accused of being an accessory in the mysterious death of his wife, whose body with a bullet wound in the back, was found on an operating table in Dr. Wynekoop's basement surgery a week ago last Tuesday.

A request for a continuance of his case in felony court by Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Daugherty, was indicated.

Hopeful Activity At Shoe Factory Is Reported Today

The industrial committee of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce was notified today that work is to be started at the Brown Shoe company's plant within a few days, in the repairing of floors. The information was the most promising received since the factory closed and moved all of the machinery to other plants several months ago. The information indicated that all of the floors in the building are to be repaired and put into shape at once. The large stockpile is also to undergo immediate repairs, a Chicago contracting firm being expected to start this work the first of next week.

Other minor repairs are now under way at the Brown factory and the members of the industrial committee who paid a visit to the head offices of the company at St. Louis three weeks ago, are hopeful that operations will be resumed, probably before the first of the year.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

HEARS FROM GOVT.

Mahlon Hartzell this morning received a communication from the United States Biological survey at Washington, D. C., acknowledging receipt of an aluminum leg band taken from a black mallard duck which was shot by L. E. Etnyre three weeks ago at the Lester Hoyle farm. The bird was banded by L. H. Barkhouse at Big Saumico, Wis. and released this summer.

LICENSED TO WED

The following marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Fred G. Dimick: Henry L. Reif and Miss Maxine Bauer, both of Compton; Ruben Baker and Miss Emma Sibighath, both of Dixon; Harold Peach of Wabun township; Eva Bonitz of Harmon township; Harold O. Barnes and Miss Grace Ruth Hicks, both of Saratoga township, Henry county; William P. McCollum and Miss Cecil Marie Barron, both of Dixon.

MEXICANS IN CRASH

John Magoon and two other Mexicans from Sterling were cut and bruised last night about 12 o'clock, when the car which Magoon was driving collided with another machine driven by Elmer Manon of east of Dixon, at the Meyers corners, east of the city on state highway Route 2. The injured Mexicans were taken to the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital where their injuries were dressed and then returned to Sterling. Both cars were slightly damaged.

NEW INSTITUTION

For the first time in many years Dixon is to have a sewing machine establishment, which will be good news to Dixon housewives and seamstresses. The Singer Sewing Machine Co. is opening a store at 405 First street in charge of A. B. Oquist, who was installed today by Assistant Manager R. S. Chockley of Rockford, Manager Odegaard of the northern Illinois branch of the company will visit the Dixon store tomorrow.

Mrs. Frank B. Owens Died Wednesday Eve After Years Illness

Mrs. Frank B. Owens passed away at her home, 116 Ashland avenue, Wednesday evening at 11 o'clock, her death ending an illness of one year's duration. Her husband, Frank B. Owens, preceded her in death, Jan. 17 of this year. She is survived by two sons, George of Chicago and Andrew of this city, six grandchildren and three brothers, Arthur Howell of Boscon, Wis.; Dr. B. B. Howell, Jefferson, Wis., and Fred Howell of St. Joseph, Mo. Funeral services will be conducted from the Jones funeral home Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Walter W. Marshall, pastor of the First Baptist church officiating and with interment in Oakwood.

AL SMITH SAYS PWA IS FAILING OF ITS PURPOSE

Is A "Crazy, Top-Heavy Structure" Full of Red Tape

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—To Alfred E. Smith, the Public Works Administration is a "failure," to Harold L. Ickes, Smith is "nourishing a grudge as the result of disappointed ambitions."

They said so last night, the former New York Governor in an editorial in the New Outlook and the PWA and Interior Secretary in an answering statement.

Smith, 1928 Democratic presidential candidate, held that the new $400,000,000 Civil Works Administration is being created to do the job-providing scheduled for PWA, a "crazy, top-heavy structure choked with bureaucracy and red tape."

"Without a complete reorganization of the Public Works Administration," he continued, "there will be no more public works under way on February 15 to absorb the civil workers than there are today to absorb the relief workers, x x x The Civil works program will certainly afford an alibi for the incompetents in the Public Works Administration."

Sec. Ickes Reply

"To which Ickes replied: 'Mr. Smith is permitting his resentment against the administration to run away with his judgment. He is apparently under the illusion that the coining of sarcastic phrases x x x will be misunderstood by sober-minded citizens.' 'The Public Works Administration has functioned efficiently to date in spite of Mr. Smith and will survive this latest outburst. The Civil Works Administration was a logical development of the public works program.'

CALLS CWA AN ALIBI

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith, in the December New Outlook, called the government's Civil Works program "an alibi for the incompetents in the Public Works Administration."

The former Governor and presidential aspirant wrote: "Half way between a lemon and orange is a grapefruit; half way between a public work and a relief work is a civil work. Up to now the federal establishments, only recently scheduled for consolidation, have been increased to in-

Western Railroads Put Lower Passenger Rate Schedules In Effect Today; Not Compulsory

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Western railroads put into effect today the sweeping reductions in passenger fares adopted last October. Roads in the eastern territory, including New England, continue to maintain the old base rate of 3.6 cents per mile, and thus for the first time in many years the country's carter's are without a uniform passenger fare structure. The new tariff in western territory allows for adjustment by the individual roads, with a range from 2 to 3 cents a mile.

HANGS HIMSELF ON EVE OF NEW COURT HEARING

He Had Been Acquitted Tuesday of Part In Hamm Kidnaping

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Willie Sharkey, one of four Chicagoans awaiting removal to that city for a kidnaping trial after being acquitted of one here, committed suicide in jail today.

Using two neckties after falling in an effort to use his belt, the 39-year-old alleged associate of Roger Touhy took his life in a cell between 5 A. M. and 6 A. M. He, with Touhy, Gustav Schafer and Eddie McFadden, were acquitted in Federal Court Tuesday of responsibility for the $100,000 kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer, in June. Held in separate cells as far apart as possible in the Ramsey county jail, Sharkey and the other three were to have a hearing tomorrow on removal to Chicago for trial on charges they kidnaped John "Jake the Barber" Factor, for whose freedom $70,000 was paid last summer.

Attorney Not Surprised

Attorney T. W. McMeekin of St. Paul, who helped defend the quartet, said he was "not surprised" at the suicide. William Scott Stewart of Chicago, chief defense attorney, at one time during the trial called Sharkey "stir crazy."

McMeekin said he had reported Sharkey's mental condition before the trial began to George Sullivan, United States District Attorney, because of his actions while being talked to about the case while in jail.

Stewart in Chicago today said an alienist examined Sharkey before the trial and decided he could differentiate between right and wrong. Coroner C. A. Ineson pronounced death due to hanging and planned a post mortem for late today. He directed a careful search of the cell for a communication but none was found.

Jailer Ed Davis, who discovered the body, said Sharkey apparently was asleep at 5 A. M. when he inspected the cell. Davis said he found Sharkey's body suspended from the uppermost bars of his cell.

Sheriff Mueller was immediately notified and attempts were made to resuscitate Sharkey. They were futile.

When news photographers attempted to take pictures of Sharkey and his three co-defendants after they were acquitted in the Hamm case, he said:

"You guys are crazy getting yourselves mugged like this. What's the matter with you—are you losing your brains?"

During the trial Sharkey rose from his seat in the courtroom each time being pushed back by some of the numerous guards. "You can't tell what that fellow will do," Attorney Stewart said at one point. "He is crazy."

Brother of Dixon Officer Is Victim of Hit-Run Driver

Joseph Mahan, brother of State Highway Officer Edward Mahan of this city, was the victim of a hit and run driver in Chicago Tuesday afternoon while he was on his way to his work as fireman on the Chicago & North Western. He was crossing the street at Madison and Franklin, when a speeding car struck him, knocked him down, breaking his right leg and rendering him unconscious. The driver did not stop but sped away from the scene, leaving the injured man lying in the street. He was taken to the Cook county hospital, where his injuries were dressed. State Officer Edward Mahan went to Chicago this morning to bring his brother to his home in this city.

Hugh Curran Was Taken by Creator at 9 This Morning

Hugh Curran, veteran mason contractor and resident of Dixon for many years, passed away at his home, 926 Ottawa avenue, this morning at 9 o'clock. He had been ailing for several months and has been bedfast for a number of weeks. Funeral arrangements and the obituary will be announced later.

BIRTHS

JORGENSEN—Born to Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Jorgensen of Evanston, Sunday, Nov. 26th, a son. Mrs. Jorgensen was formerly Miss Bess Benson.
Relief Corp. Will Give Needy Coal to Total 3,000,000 Tons
Washington, Dec. 1—(AP)—Ten million tons of coal are to be purchased by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation for needy unemployed.
Harry L. Hopkins, president of the corporation, said today that 8,000,000 tons of bituminous coal and 2,000,000 tons of anthracite will be used.
The Anthracite Institute has agreed, Hopkins said, to a reduction of 70 cents a ton and the bituminous operators have agreed to a 10 per cent discount from the NRA code price.
Local relief administrations, Hopkins said, will arrange with local dealers to supply the coal from existing stocks.
Official estimates of the amounts to be used included:
Illinois, 491,000; Indiana, 730,000; Iowa, 425,000; Missouri, 135,000; Wisconsin, 94,418.
On Feb. 18th, 1908 she was united in marriage with Edgar L. Brokaw and to this union was born one son, Max Pomeroy Brokaw of Lancaster, Wis. Mrs. Brokaw was a member of Friendship No. 378 O. E. S. She leaves to mourn her passing, her husband, her son and his wife, Harriet, her parents, her brother, Chas. A. Smith and wife and many other relatives and friends.
Funeral services conducted by Rev. F. B. Haynes, pastor of the M. P. church were held at the home of her parents, on Sunday afternoon and burial was made in Linerick cemetery.

SHE'S ON HER METAL!

Blouse of Metallic Brocaded Lace Distinctive for Winter Wear

High necklines and touches of gold are the important notes of the formal afternoon mode this winter. Sally Eilers wears a formal jumper dress of garnet panne velvet over a high-necked blouse of metallic brocaded lace with dolman sleeves. A port little bow tie of velvet fastens the high collar. Buttons, which run all the way from the neckline to the cuffs of the long sleeves, are covered with the metallic lace. The dress is cut perfectly straight and is belted at the normal waistline. It's a sweet little ensemble for that important tea or cocktail party.

Wine May Be Used In White Fruit Cake

By SISTER MARY
NEA Service Staff Writer
White fruit cake will not keep moist as long as a dark fruit cake but it is very popular in the Southern states and is a truly delicious cake. Plan to make this cake not more than two weeks before wanted.

White Fruit Cake
One cup butter, 1 cup powdered sugar, whites 5 eggs, 3 1/2 cups of flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 cup orange juice, 1 cup of blanched and shredded almonds, 1-2 cup sliced Brazil nuts, 1 cup white raisins, 1 cup thinly sliced candied pineapple, 1 cup shredded citron, 1 cup freshly grated coconut, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 up milk.

Cream butter and sugar. Sift 1-2 cup flour over raisins, pineapple and citron and stir with a fork until each piece is coated. Sift 1-2 cup flour into creamed butter and sugar and mix thoroughly. Beat in half the milk and add another half cup of flour. Mix and sift remaining flour with salt and baking powder and add alternately with orange juice. Add prepared fruit, nuts and coconut and fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Add vanilla and turn into one large loaf pan or two small ones. Line pans with two thicknesses of heavy waxed paper and bake in a slow oven for two hours. The temperature should not be over 325 degrees F.

Cherries Add Color
Candied cherries make an attractive bit of color scattered through the cake if you want to use them.

Three whole eggs can be used in place of five egg whites but the cake will be yellow rather than pure white.

Sherry and white wine can be substituted for the milk and orange juice, too, if you have them on hand and want to use them.

When whole eggs are used candied orange and lemon peels are a good addition omitting the candied pineapple. Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately, adding yolks to creamed butter and sugar and folding whites in at the last.

WORKERS FROM BIBLE FAITH MISSION ARE HEARD

Large and appreciative audiences greeted and heard D. J. McNeill and his wife and other workers from the Bible Faith Mission of Chicago, last Sunday at Bethel Evangelical church. The evening meeting was held under the auspices of the Women's Missionary society and was their annual Thanksgiving offering meeting. Special musical numbers, devotionals, and prayers were given and the workers each gave their personal experiences of how they were saved and entered into God's service. They are now doing wonderful work on the West Side of Chicago and have a growing Sunday school of over 300—all to many pictures were shown of scenes taken in their activities in rescue work. A thank offering of over $40.00 was lifted and a goodly

Missionary Societies of St. Paul's To Give Pageant

On Sunday evening, Dec. 3, the Women's and Young Women's Missionary Societies of the St. Paul's Lutheran church will hold their annual public thank offering meeting, at 7:45 o'clock.

The Women's Society will have charge of the devotional meeting. The Young Women's Society will present a pageant entitled, "How Much Owest Thou Thy Lord?" The pageant is a dramatic presentation of civilization through the ages, portraying the life in various places where those who spread the Light of Jesus Christ have not been able to help as they should. A short synopsis of the pageant follows:

Mrs. Crawford, a woman of the modern world, does not seem enthused over a public thank-offering program presented at the church as does her daughter Jean who is very much puzzled as to how much she owes and should give to the cause of missionary work. As they discuss their different opinions about it the spirit of Civilization appears to them and brings various scenes: a scene of a mother and daughter in an ancestral home in northern Europe about the second century A. D. who discuss the terrible custom of their people of giving human sacrifice to their gods who do nothing for them; next a scene from a mountain shack in Tennessee where a mother and daughter lament that the girl cannot be sent to a school where she can get "book larnin'" as a girl of their acquaintance has been; finally a scene in a poor Chinese home where a child lies dying because the Chinese priest cannot, even though the father has paid him sixty cash, drive the evil demon from the girl's throat.

In each case we see the dire need of the knowledge of the real God and the influence that can be wrought upon these people by Him and His disciples, or missionaries who will help bring to these people the necessary things without which their lives have been so empty and futile.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to see this pageant and witness the effect it has upon Mrs. Crawford and her daughter Jean. Everyone who has the opportunity to see it will be impressed by the thrilling "I don't know" of these women, the importance of keeping missionaries in their fields of labor.

Members are asked to bring their thank offering envelopes.

Chocolate Waffles Make Ideal Collegiate Snack or Supper

By NEA Service

Chocolate waffles solve the problem which confronts the college girl when she wants to serve something a little different for a midnight spread.

While they can constitute the main course of a snack in the dormitory, the hostess who has her own home will find that waffles are grand for a Sunday night supper dessert.

Chocolate waffles are easy to make and here's the way to do it: Sift one and one-half cups of cake flour and add one and one-half teaspoons of baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon salt, three-quarters cup of sugar. Mix thoroughly.

Combine two well beaten egg yolks with one-half cup of milk and pour it all into the dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Put one-half cup of melted butter with two squares of melted unsweetened chocolate and blend it with the batter. Add one-half teaspoon vanilla. Keep on beating until the mixture is smooth and light. Turn fold in two stiffly beaten egg whites.

This recipe makes four 4 section waffles, and since you should allow at least two waffles for each person, double the recipe if you expect to serve four people.

LET US NOT OVERLOOK THOSE HUGE PROFITS.

When Senate investigators uncovered the facts about the fat salaries which such men as Wiggin and Mitchell enjoyed in recent years, the man in the street was not slow in expressing complete disapproval.

Incomes that are figured in quarter-million lots don't look so good against a background of 12,000,000 men out of work. The uproar that greeted the news was quite justified.

Less fuss is being made about some of the later revelations of "easy money" in Wall Street. Yet these revelations are in fact more important than those which had to do with the swollen salaries of the big shot money changers.

It can be claimed, after all, that a salary is a matter between a man and his stockholders; but a system which creates millions in profits for men who have rendered society no return whatsoever admits of no such a defense.

Consider the little matter of the stock transactions about which Arthur W. Cutten told the senators the other day.

Back in 1929, a group of men headed by Cutten, Harry F. Sinclair and Wiggin organized a get-rich-quick oil stock syndicate.

This syndicate promptly bought some 1,130,000 shares of Sinclair oil stock. Before they paid for it, however, they sold it—at a very neat little profit of $12,000,000.

The participants in this gay little party used none of their own money. They didn't have to. When you can sell, at a profit, an article which you have not yet paid for, you don't really need much of a bank-roll to finance your deal.

Now the more you think about this, the odder it all seems. You can cook up some sort of justification for a stock gambling system by which a man who risks his money can get a return on it if he is lucky; but what are you going to say about a system which permits a high pressure crew to clean up $12,000,000 without putting up a nickel?

It was this sort of thing, and not the prevalence of unjustifiably high salaries, that constituted the real weakness of the boom era.

IN THE LABORATORY.

One of the advantages of turning the liquor problem over to the states for solution is the fact that a number of different ways of handling the traffic will be tried. We thus shall have a sort of laboratory in which many different experiments are being attempted simultaneously.

As a result, in a couple of years or so, we shall be able to get a pretty good line on the methods of liquor control which work out the best in actual practice.

At present our discussion of the different courses that have been suggested is purely theoretical. We think we know how such and such a plan would work out, but we can't be sure.

After half a dozen different states actually have tried out a half dozen different liquor control systems, we shall be in a much better position to judge the comparative effectiveness of the various schemes that have been suggested.

THE FOUNDATION IS REACHED.

Economists who discuss the business upturn which has taken place so far this year usually point out that we can't really say that prosperity is returning until the producers' good industries begin to revive.

The industries are the ones which produce basic commodities used in production of other goods sold directly to the public—such things as machinery, engines and turbines, foundry and machine shop equipment, agricultural implements, structural metal work, and the like. Until their business improves, good times will remain in the distance.

Now, however, it is announced at Washington that producers' goods industries are beginning to feel the revival. If this is true, and if the revival continues, we shall have the best of reasons for feeling encouraged about the return of prosperity.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

While all the tots were having fun, just gazing at the grand old sun, a large cloud came floating by, and hid old Sol from view. "Oh, my, instead of being down, it is dark. The moon and sun are gone!" exclaimed wee Dotty. "Tell me, now, what are we going to do?"

The Star Man answered with a smile. "Don't be impatient. Wait a while, and that big cloud will drift along. Then things will be all right."

"To see the sun, you will be very glad, but, as for me, 'twill be too bad. You see I'll have to disappear when it is shining bright."

"Then I just hope that cloud will stay around here for the long long day," said Dotty. "I want you here because you have been real nice to us."

"Well, youngster, what must be, must be, and soon you will see the last of me. When it comes time for me to go please do not start a fuss."

In just a little while the bunch heard real strange noises. "I've a hunch that somebody is coming through the air," the Star Man said.

"The rat-tat-tat is very clear and I am sure it is coming near. I'd suggest you Tinymites watch for something overhead."

They all looked up and soon one cried. "Oh, look! A little speck I've spied. It's getting bigger all the time, and heading right this way."

Another Tiny said, "It is an airplane. Gee, just see it whiz! I hope the plane holds somebody with whom we all can play."

And then the plane swooped right close by. A plane leaned out and shouted, "Hi! Please wait for me, you Tinymites. I have some news that's grand."

"I'll circle around a time or two and then I'll drop right out by you. Be sure and get out of the way, when I get set to land."

The man up in the plane cried out, "Before I land, I will whirl about and show you lads some very clever tricks. This is a magic airplane.

"When I command, it dips and swoops. Now watch I'll do some loop-the-loops. Just keep your eyes on me until some altitude I gain."

Then up he went. Oh, my, how fast! Wee Scouty shouted. "There! At last he's straightened out and now he'll make a circle in the air."

Amid the Tinsies' merry whoops, the pilot did a lot of loops. "If I tried that," said Dotty, "it would bring an awful scare."

They watched a little while, and then they heard the fellow shout again. "Look out," he cried. "I am coming down. Please give me lots of space."

"Don't worry," wee Scouty said. "We will." And then the whole bunch got a thrill. "He is landing," shouted Goldy, with a smile upon her face.

The pilot jumped down to the ground, as all the Tinsies gathered around. "At last I have found you Tinymites," said he. "I am full of cheer."

"Last year you lads helped old Santa Claus, and he wants you again because you did fine work in his toy shop. Now, that's why I am here."

"Oh, gee, to help him would be grand, but we are far, far from Santa Land," said Windy "and we have no way of traveling, you see."

"Oh yes you have," the man replied. "I have a balloon bird you can ride. I will blow the dandy bird up. Then you lads can follow me."

The bird was then brought into sight. "Oh, gee, I hope it works all right," said Coppy, as "he man began to blow it way up him."

The thing grew fatter puff by puff. "Don't worry, tots. I know my stuff," exclaimed the man. "It soon will take you sailing through the air."

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL IN EPHEBUS

By WM. E. GILROY

The present lesson, though its events occurred in an ancient city, has a modern flavor and emphasizes some of our modern problems.

As was Paul's custom, he made the synagogue the center of his religious activity in Ephesus as long as he was permitted to speak there freely. For three months he was able to carry on this sort of ministry, but by that time his opponents had stirred up so much opposition that he found it advisable to leave the synagogue and establish his preaching ministry, which apparently was a ministry of conversation and discussion, in the school of Tyrannus.

Here, we are told, he "reasoned" daily. And for a man whose ministry was mostly itinerant, he achieved the distinction of two years' settlement in one place.

The influence of his contact and teachings during those two years must have been both deep and extensive. Undoubtedly, many people from outlying parts would come to visit Paul, so that his work and influence were not confined to Ephesus alone. But, as is indicated in the lesson, the whole region was reached by his teaching, and both Jews and Greeks were among his converts.

It is in the nature of any new teaching or movement to attract to itself not only the sincere and earnest people of open mind, but many of more fanatical or fraudulent tendencies, whose interest in a movement arises from ignorant zeal or from selfish motives.

It was so here in Ephesus. When some of these people found Paul performing miracles in the name of Jesus, they began to practice a sort of incantation, exercising evil spirits in the name of Jesus though there was no manifestation of the spirit of Jesus in their work and teaching.

Much of our lesson is taken up with the story of how a mad man, from whom the sons of Sceva, a Jewish priest, sought to cast out the evil spirit, turned upon these impostors and wounded them badly.

The effect of this was to create fear and panic on the part of the impostors and to win those who were misled to the true faith. Those who practiced magical arts renounced their folly and brought the paraphernalia of their magic arts to be destroyed.

Manifestly, some rather doubtful lessons, as well as some very sound ones may be derived from the incident. The recent epidemic of book burning in Germany, and other book burnings that have occurred during the centuries since these events in Ephesus, remind us that this never is a fair or effectual way of warring upon ideas.

The works of Paul in Ephesus rested upon a much more solid foundation that repressive measures and book burning, and it is a little unfortunate that the passage chosen for the lesson does not suggest the full perspective of Paul's Ephesian ministry.

One must read in connection with the lesson Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians. Here, in the letter that Paul wrote from his imprisonment at Rome, one can measure the greatness of his spiritual conceptions and the depth of his influence as he proclaimed the great positive reality of Christian faith and experience.

Here, also, in the Epistle one has a glorified conception of the church as a great household of which God is the head, and of which all disciples are fellow members. It is in the six chapters of the Epistle that one best can measure the fullness of what Paul sought to teach and do.

COMPTON NEWS

By FAYE ARCHER

COMPTON—A highly interesting basketball game was run off between the Rollo and the Compton High Schools last Thursday evening. Rollo, which has decisively defeated all of its opponents this year, started their second team. A smoothly running Compton squad held them to one point in the first half while acquiring 9 points for themselves. The first team was then put into the game and at the end of the third quarter the score had leveled out to 15 all. Gaily fighting until the end the Compton squad lost the decision by a score of 24 to 16. It would be rather unfair to pick out any one individual of the Compton team as having been the outstanding player. Lester and David Kaufman as forwards, Joe Ege as center, and Floyd Archer, Allan McEntenhen and Bob Chier as guards put on one of the tightest exhibitions of basketball ever seen in the local gymnasium. They played a heads-up game and frequently confounded the highly touted Rollo squad. With a little more luck in their shooting in the final half of the game the score might have been a different matter.

"What are you collecting?", and "How many have you now?", are questions which have been heard quite frequently at the Compton schools during the last month. Under the supervision of Prof. D. C. Thompson a large percentage of pupils of the grade and high schools are starting collections of various articles such as stamps, post marks, cotton prints, nails, buttons, match folders, and pins: stamps and post marks being the favorites. Many people whom the children have approached for additions to their collections will be wondering just what the idea back of it all can be. In short, it is mainly for the development of new and healthy interests, and a use for leisure time. This project which is being developed in the form of a contest between the boys and girls of the grade and high school will reach a climax on January 15 or later at which time a hobby show will be staged at the school gymnasium where the public will be privileged to see how much the various articles which they have so willingly donated for this interesting project have helped in this worthwhile amusement.

"Get Acquainted With Our Schools"

Why Have Athletics in Schools? What is the final object of an athletic program? Is it to produce winning teams at the expense of the scholastic standing and the physical welfare of the players, or has it some more worthwhile end in view? Why are we justified in insisting that athletics remain as a highly important part of our schools?

Let us discuss the values of athletics from two standpoints, each of the greatest value in our high speed life of today. First, the more obvious physical benefits; secondly, as a means of character education.

In considering our first point we are generously agreed that physical activity normally makes for better health. The supervised instruction in physical activities stimulates our muscles, nerves, heart, digestion, and lungs and as a result a child so stimulated grows into a normal, healthy adult. To counteract the bad effects of over-refined foods and other unnatural conditions of our modern life physical activity is far more important for efficient living than it has ever been before.

Do You Recognize Louise?

Who doesn't recall, with longing joy, the comical capers of Louise Fazenda? She was a favorite far back in the silent movie days and the talkies didn't stop her, either. Here she is now, with her son, Brent, as Mrs. Hal Wallis. Just to see how different she looks from her screen character, the inset shows her in one of her earlier pictures.

Modern life calls for a balanced nervous system as well as for organic strength. The only possible time to develop this is during childhood: the only way is through big brain and nerve-muscle activity. This does not mean the twenty-minute-a-day type of exercise that is normally enough for a grown person, fully developed; it means the active supervised exercise of the child, such as athletics, upon which his present and future depends.

Child growth by natural activity must be supplemented by the forming of good health habits, and by preventing and correcting physical defects. The athletics coach, as well as the teacher in other subjects, must add to the home training by giving the child ideals and attitudes in the healthful conduct of daily life. In athletics we have in that members of a school team must be fit in order to make the team.

Just how does an athletic program help to develop the child's character? How many of the following phrases, in use every day, understood by everyone do you use in your daily fight for right thinking and right living? Play fair, hit the line, don't give up, keep your chin up, go down fighting, give them all you've got, give him a chance, and countless others. If for no other reason supervised athletics are justified for bringing the above mentioned ideals to your sons and daughters. Sportsmanship is not restricted to the athletic field; it enters into your everyday associations with your neighbors, friends, and business colleagues. If a man must wait until he has to go out and fight for his own living to learn these ideals, he starts his fight with a big handicap which he may never overcome, and so he is often lost to the community as an honest, fair, sportsmanlike citizen.

Wouldn't you rather have your sons and daughters discover the benefits of clean, right living, and learn the value of good sportsmanship at a time when it will be easiest to learn and when it may prove of lasting good to them? If you would—support your school's athletic activities.

SLEEPING SICKNESS—1

Sleeping sickness is the symptomatic name attached to a disease more correctly called epidemic encephalitis.

As we employ the term sleeping sickness, it must be differentiated from the sleeping sickness which is found in Africa. The African disease is caused by a parasite transmitted by the tsetse fly.

The cause of the American sleeping sickness is as yet unknown. It is called sleeping sickness because stupor and somnolence are two of its main features.

The recent epidemic of sleeping sickness witnessed in the city of St. Louis has aroused much curiosity as to the nature and history of the disease.

Medical historians lead us to believe that during the last 200 years there have been several epidemics of this disease.

However, it is uncertain whether their beliefs can stand close scrutiny, for epidemic encephalitis closely resembles and may have been confounded with certain other conditions notably, infantile paralysis and the encephalitis associated with influenza.

Our knowledge of this disease is of very recent date, having been gathered from several epidemics, one of which occurred in Vienna in 1916, another in England in 1918 and more recently in this country.

Our best studies warrant the belief that epidemic encephalitis is caused by a filtrable virus, that is, by some living disease-producing agent too small to be seen even through our most powerful microscopes. The exact nature of this virus has not been determined.

Epidemic encephalitis respects neither age nor sex. It has been reported affecting both the very young and the aged. It is most common in those between 20 and 50 years of age. It is said to attack men more frequently than women.

The contagiousness of epidemic encephalitis is disputed; some hold that it is only faintly contagious while others maintain that it is markedly so.

POSTAL BOWLERS SET NEW MARK IN CITY LOOP GAMES

Leading League: Three Teams Are Now Tied For Second Place

Although Brady's Villagers beat them two out of three contests, the Postoffice team accumulated the highest series which included a new team single game record of 1074. The Postoffice team's three game total was 2886, against 2774 for Brady's Villagers.

Edward Worley of Brady's Villagers rolled games of 213, 207, 235 for a new City League series record of 655 pins during this match. Worley also leads the field in individual averages with 200.10 for 21 games.

Brownies Punks have accumulated the highest team series count to date in league competition with 3003.

High Single
Andrew Tilton of the Postoffice has the distinction of being the high single game champion thus far with a big game of 255, which incidentally tops all other leagues at the Recreation alleys for this important event.

The Postoffice team holds first place with 13 wins, 8 defeats. Three teams are close behind, with but one game separating them from the leaders, having won 12 and lost 2, namely Hayden's Service, Borden's and Fallstrom's.

Brownies Punks have won 11 and lost 10. The Brady Villagers are next in line with 9 wins and 12 defeats. The Kroger Store and the National Tea are tied in the cellar with 8 victories and 13 defeats.

Jack Beynon, Ill.—QB.
Jay Berwanger, Chicago—HB.
James Carter, Purdue—HB.
Richard Crayne, Iowa—FB.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Out of probably the closest race for individual honors in a decade, the outstanding aces of Michigan, Iowa, Purdue, Minnesota and Ohio State won berths on the 1933 all-star Big Ten football team as selected by The Associated Press with the assistance of coaches, officials and critics, who saw every player in action this fall.

Michigan, undefeated champion of a league recognized as one of the toughest in college football, led the way by placing four of its stars on the first team. Iowa, Minnesota and Purdue each placed two while Ohio State landed a repeater from the 1932 All-Star aggregation. A total of 63 players representing every team in the conference received votes in the close race, but the only unanimous choice was Francis Wistert, Michigan's 6 foot 3 1-2 inch tackle. His teammate, Charles Bernard, missed joining him as a unanimous choice when one coach placed him on the second team.

Quarterback Close
The closest race involved the quarterback position, which Joe Laws of Iowa, leading scorer in Big Ten games this year, won by a single point over Jack Beynon, field general and forward passing wizard from Illinois. Laws, one of the big reasons for Iowa's astonishing victory raid, was named for every backfield position in the balloting. Edgar Manske of Northwestern and Ted Rosequist of Ohio State also lost close decisions for posts at end and tackle, respectively.

Although a crop of brilliant sophomores helped decide the Big Ten race this year, not one of them made the first team, the personnel being composed of eight seniors and three juniors. Two members of the 1932 all-star team, Joe Galus, Ohio State guard, and Bernard repeated.

"Dutch" Fehring of Purdue, unquestionably one of the greatest leaders that ever led a team on a football field, was named captain of the first team. Tom Moore of Iowa, whose misfortune it was to have a star like Bernard lined up against him in the race for center position, was selected captain of the second string. Fehring and Moore were probably the real sparkplugs in the Hawkeye and Boilermaker campaigns.

Facts and Figures

When a Referee's Rule Was NOT Final

Pete Hartley became the first referee in the history of boxing to be overruled when, after stopping the fight between Tommy Loughran (left) and Ray Impellitteri in New York's Madison Square Garden, as shown here, he was ordered by General John Phelan of the State Boxing Commission, to resume the bout. Loughran, whose cut lip led the referee to intervene, came back to win the decision.

STERLING WON "HOME-COMING" ON TURKEY DAY

Locals Put Up A Tough Battle Although Were Outplayed

By Bradley Moll
Yesterday the Dixon purple and white eleven lost its home coming game to the invading Sterling eleven by a score of 15-0.

The game, a hard fought battle, was played under perfect weather conditions, and before a record crowd. The spring-like day lured the fans out in great numbers and the brand of ball played certainly did credit to the wonderful turn-out of people.

The game climaxed the season for both teams and gave Sterling a record of no defeats. No game this season had the tenacity or the tightness that this Thanksgiving game had, in fact the whole atmosphere seemed impregnated with the usual Thanksgiving game atmosphere.

Sterling, although outplayed, gave Sterling a real scrap, and no Sterling player had it easy any part of the game. Dixon gave Sterling a run the first quarter, and then on a blocked kick in the second quarter, Sterling gained possession of the ball, on Dixon's 34-yard line. Their ground gains at this point, were rapid and the first touchdown was chalked up. Dixon's hopes glimmered in the second quarter when Sterling secured possession of the ball and went to the 16 yard line. Henry of Dixon was injured in the following play, and Dixon's aerial threat was eliminated. Henry's performance until that point was excellent, and his vacancy left a hard gap to fill.

Sterling's safety was made in the third quarter by Stoughlin, the final kick was blocked by Stoughlin, the ball going out of bound in the end zone, giving Sterling two points. Dixon's final threat came in the last quarter when Belows and Snader advanced the ball deep into Sterling's territory.

As a whole the game was very exciting and Dixon equaled Sterling in first downs but lacked the punch to chalk up any points. Sterling's aerial attack was hopeless, but their power plays picked up plenty of yardage. Gebhardt, Burns and Bogott carrying the ball.

The line up:
STERLING
Straughlin LE
Reiger LT
Vipond LG
Baldwin C
Knapp RG
Miller RT
Davidson RE
Bogott LH
Gebhardt RH
Burns FB
Moore QB

DIXON
Belows LE
D. Miller LT
Knapp LG
Mosholder C
Crutchoff RG
Barnhart RT
L. Miller RE
Withers LH
Henry RH
Kennedy FB
Underwood QB

First Quarter
Sterling kicked to Dixon, and the battle was on. Henry of Dixon carried the ball on the first three downs. Underwood got a beautiful kick away to Sterling's 35 yard line where Gebhardt of Sterling fumbled and Crutchoff of Dixon recovered. This was a decided break for Dixon, but on the succeeding plays Sterling pushed Dixon back 11 yards. On another exchange Underwood neatly kicked the ball to Sterling's 9-yard line, and Burns lost no time returning the ball. On the following exchange Dixon fumbled and Sterling had the ball on Dixon's 48-yard line. The Dixon line held at this point and Sterling was forced to kick. Dixon exchanged punts again and after the final exchange, the ball rested on Sterling's 23 yard line, in their possession, and the quarter ended. The first quarter was evenly matched, both teams being more or less nervous, and high strung.

Second Quarter
The quarter opened disastrously for Dixon, when on securing the ball, and gaining no ground, they decided to kick but Underwood's kick was blocked on his own 36-yard line and recovered by Sterling. Bogott and Gebhardt rapidly picked up the necessary yardage. Gebhardt going over for the tally. Burns, on a line smash secured the point after the touchdown. The official status gave the ball to Sterling on the 16-yard line. Sterling was unfortunate and got a bad break, which culminated in the last touchdown, on Henry's pass an ineligible catcher received the ball and automatically gave the ball to Sterling. Sterling's line drives were stopped on Dixon's 14-yard line. Kennedy picked up five yards and Underwood went another five. On the next play Dixon's hopes faded when Henry went out of the game with an injured shoulder. The official status gave the ball to Sterling on the 16-yard line. Sterling again charged the Dixon goal. Burns smashing through for the touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

Third Quarter
Dixon played a defensive game the remainder of the time, but that extra spark that Henry gave the team was gone, and Dixon slowed up a little. Dixon made several exchanges with Sterling, the final kick went to Dixon's danger zone and Underwood's kick was blocked and went out of bounds behind the goal in Dixon's possession giving Sterling 2 points. Straughlin of Sterling blocked the kick. Dixon kicked to Sterling from their own 20 yard line, and the quarter ended with Sterling in possession of the ball.

Fourth Quarter
Burns kicked to Dixon's 5 yard line and Underwood kicked to the 30 yard line. On Sterling's next kick, Underwood received the ball and made a wonderful return kick, probably never before seen in conference football of late years, his kick went over the goal and was given to Sterling on their own 20 yard line. With another exchange, Belows was given the ball and picked up 24 yards; Snader picked up 14 yards, the ball resting on the 20 yard line. The final minutes of play saw the teams deadlocked in Sterling's territory.

Substitutions: Sterling: Lindberger for Frost, Evans for Davidson, Cross for Reiger, King for Evans, McClanathan for Cross, Rutt for Bogott, Witmer for Vipond, Casey for Burns, Bogott for Rutt, Leppold for Bogott.

Officials: Umpire, Temple of Moline; Referee, Brix of Streator; H. Linesman, Chene of Morrison.
First downs: Dixon, 5; Sterling, 5.
Penalties: Dixon, 5 yards; Sterling, 15 yards.

Basketball Loop Reorganized For Current Season

The Dixon Industrial Basketball League's schedule will begin next Wednesday evening. It was announced today. The league has been cut down to five teams and there will be two games each evening, instead of three as in previous years, the odd team to furnish two players to referee the games. The teams have been strengthened since last winter and two good games should result each Wednesday evening at the high school gym. The list of the players and the schedule will be published later.

This is real HEALO weather. Ask your druggist for a box of this wonderful foot powder.

FANS' INTEREST CENTERS IN YALE BOWL AND STADIUM

Army-Notre Dame and Yale-Princeton Contests Featured

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The east, with two major classics in the Army-Notre Dame and Yale-Princeton duels, dominates the program for football's virtual finale tomorrow.

The south, where Duke's undefeated and untied record will be at stake in a clash with Georgia Tech. and the far west where Southern California's Trojans take their stand against Georgia, offer some competition but nevertheless the accent will be on activities in the Yankee Stadium and the Yale Bowl.

Both Army and Princeton, sharing with Duke the honor of being the only remaining major eleven with perfect records will start in the favorite's role but neither Cadet nor Tiger will do any celebrating until after Saturday's games.

Of the two Princeton's chances look slightly the better, particularly now that Captain Bob Lasser, Yale's most consistent ground-gainer, has been declared definitely out of the game with a leg injury. Princeton, with a great line and a wealth of speedy backs headed by little Garry LeVan, apparently packs entirely too much power for the Elis who already have bowed to Army, Georgia and Harvard. The Tigers likewise have a final passer in quarterback Kats Kiallis and Yale was woefully weak against Harvard's aerial bombs last week.

Upsets Possible
But the long rivalry between these two—they've played 56 games since 1873—has been marked too often by spectacular upsets to lead anyone to count Yale out of the running in advance.

Army, winner of nine games in a row—including major triumphs over Illinois, Yale, Harvard and Navy, will be a decided choice against a Notre Dame outfit that so far has been able to beat only Indiana and Northwestern, and tie Kansas while losing decisions to Carnegie, Pitt, Navy, Purdue and Southern California.

Yet there is plenty of danger in this engagement for the Cadets and none realizes it better than Head Coach Gar Davidson. "That Notre Dame boasts all kinds of power there is none to deny, for only Southern California has been able to outgain the Ramblers from South Bend finally 'click' this Saturday. Army's perfect record might go by the boards."

The Cadets, however, are banking on their light but aggressive line and a clever backfield combination in which Paul (Bean) Johnson and Jack Buckler are the key figures.

Other Prospects
Briefly, the prospects in Saturday's other leading engagements are:

Southern California—Georgia—Georgia is one of the south's main football powers, but they will be short-handed against Southern California.

Duke—Georgia Tech—Despite their close call with North Carolina State last week, Duke's Blue Devils will be favored to beat the Engineers and wind up with a perfect record.

Tulane-Louisiana State—L. S. U. needs to win this one to retain its chance of tying Alabama for the Southeastern title but Tulane, on its late-season record, looks the stronger.

George Washington—Kansas—Kansas will be playing its second game in three days, influencing a ballot in favor of George Washington.

Rosion College-Holy Cross—One of those traditional rivalries where anything can happen but Holy Cross is the indicated choice.

Texas Christian-Southern Methodist—The Horned Frogs have come fast late in the season and may roll over S. M. U.

Baylor-Rice—Baylor looks much superior on the record.

Few men achieve their goal without vitality and drive. And so many are held back from their best by a common ailment: constipation. It dulls energy, often causes headaches, sleeplessness. It takes the rim out of your day's work.

Correct constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

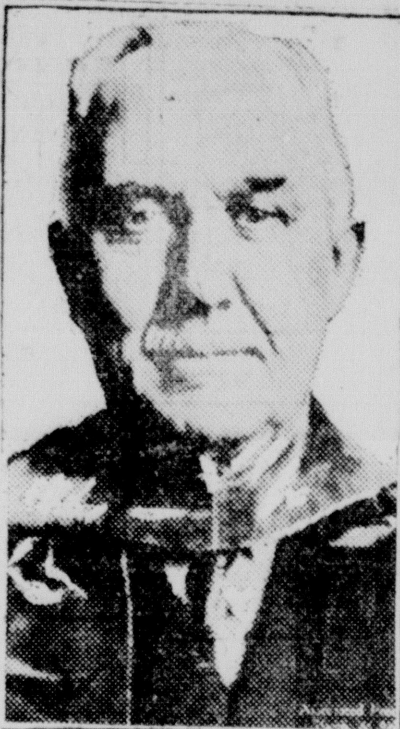

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Head of Great Mellon Bank In Pittsburgh Dead

ASSOCIATED PRESS (PACIFIC & ATLANTIC)

RICHARD B. MELLON

Pittsburgh, Dec. 1.—(AP)—R. B. Mellon, 75, President of the Mellon National Bank and brother of Andrew Mellon, died today.

The multi-millionaire banker and philanthropist had been in failing health for a month and last Wednesday his condition took a turn for the worst. Death occurred at his home at 5:19 A. M.

The aged man lapsed into unconsciousness several hours before his death.

At his bedside were his widow, Mrs. Jennie King Mellon; a son, Richard K. and a daughter, Mrs. Sarah Cordelia Scaife.

Richard Beatty Mellon, younger brother of the former Secretary of the Treasury, helped to build the vast Mellon business empire, centered around Pittsburgh and though always quiet and unassuming was prominent in philanthropic circles.

His last appearance in the public notice was just three weeks ago, when he asked the federal government to re-examine his income tax report for 1930. A payment of $18,951 was in dispute. The petition disclosed that the banker had an income of $3,598,931 for the year in question.

SANTA EXPLAINS WHY HE'S COMING TO DIXON EARLY

Gives Reasons Back of Visit Here Tuesday,
December 12th.

For many hundreds of years, no one knows just how many, Santa Claus has been visiting good little children (and grown-ups, too, for that matter), at Christmas to fill their stockings with gifts and toys.

Of late years, though, he has inaugurated the practice of making a series of pre-Christmas visits to a limited number of cities previous to his annual Christmas eve visit when he leaves his remembrances.

This city, as everyone reading the daily paper now knows, is to be one of the few cities so honored by the patron saint this year, Santa Claus is to be in Dixon Tuesday, December 12.

While here, he is, of course, going to delight those who come to see him with the most stupendous Christmas parade ever witnessed. He is coming also to find out just how the children are behaving and to determine whether the merchants have been making proper preparations for holiday shopping.

Origin of Practice
As stated, it has been only in recent years that Santa has been making these pre-Christmas visits to a small group of especially honored and favored communities.

Just why he instituted this practice has been explained in many ways owing to the numerous angles presented to civilization by the changing times.

Movie stars, some years ago, started the practice of making personal appearances in some of the theatres where their pictures were being exhibited. Santa, some say by way of explaining his new policy of going to certain cities singled out by him for a special pre-Christmas visit in connection with which he stages a gigantic parade, started this method of procedure because he did not wish to be outdone by the movie stars. In fact, he went the flicker players one better by making his personal appearance in advance of the date scheduled for his regular "act."

These visits, during which Santa parades and makes it possible for everyone to see him, wave to him, and even throw kisses to him, do away with skepticism. Formerly, when Santa came only on Christmas eve, he was in so much of a rush that no one ever had an opportunity actually ever to see him. For this reason, many children had to believe in him on the strength of faith alone. It sometimes is difficult for little minds to believe in things they cannot actually see, so Santa overcame this obstacle by making his pre-Christmas visits. This custom gives all an opportunity to witness the truth of the Santa Claus legend.

McCarl Again Rules Against Gen. Hugh

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—For the second time, Comptroller General J. R. McCarl has held that Ford Motor Company products are eligible for government contracts.

This was ruled in an opinion given the Department of Agriculture as the result of an attempt by Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA Administrator, to keep the Northwest Motors Company of Bethesda, Md., a Ford dealer, from receiving a contract for Civilian Conservation Corps trucks.

Johnson contended the company might be in violation of the retail motor code because its bid probably was under the minimum set by the code.

McCarl held, however, that this question "is for judicial determination and not for consideration by the purchasing or contracting officer in the awarding of a contract."

The decision also developed that Johnson considers that Ford is complying with the automobile manufacturers' code "save in respect of certain technical particulars which are considered immaterial."

STEPHEN, WHAT ON EARTH ARE YOU LAUGHING ABOUT?

THE BOYS! THEY'RE A FOXY BUNCH! HAVE YOU HEARD ABOUT MORACE?

BOOTS FINALLY WHEELED HIM INTO TAKING GWENDOLYN TO A SHOW—AND WHAT DO YOU THINK HE DID? HE GOT TWO TICKETS, ALL RIGHT, BUT THEY WERE TWELVE ROWS APART, SO HE WOULDN'T HAVE TO SIT WITH HER

OH, THAT ISN'T AS GOOD AS THE ONE FERDY PULLED

HE ASKED THE SAME YOUNG LADY FOR A DATE, AFTER MUCH PERSUASION, AND HE STARTED THINGS OFF BY TAKING HER FOR A WALK! THEY RETURNED IN ABOUT THIRTY MINUTES, AND GWENDOLYN WAS TOO SICK FOR WORDS...

WE FINALLY CONFESSED THAT HE HAD BOUGHT HER A SANDWICH AT THE CORNER HOT DOG STAND! BOOTS TOLD HIM SHE THOUGHT HE KNEW THAT THEY SERVED THE WORST FOOD IN TOWN—AND HE SAID, SURE HE KNEW IT!

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN
©1933 NIA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Who killed TRACY KING, orchestra leader found dead in his apartment?
DAVID BANNISTER, a Chicago former newspaper reporter, undertakes to find out.
Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King shortly before his death. Bannister has seen the girl, but she has since disappeared.
HERMAN SCURLACH, who wrote King a threatening letter, is in jail. He declares his innocence. AL DRUGAN, friend of King's, says the orchestra leader has been having trouble with JOE PARROTT, his former vaudeville partner, and accuses Parrott of the murder. Police learn that MELVINA HOLLISS, middle-aged spinster, had a violent quarrel with King after he killed her canary.
CAPTAIN MCNEAL of the detective bureau goes to see Miss RILEY and two narrow slits. THREW. When he leaves he declares, "Those two will bear watching."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

THE stream of yellow sunshine fell directly across David Bannister's face. It wavered gently, as the curtains at the open window blew inward; then settled across the ridge of Bannister's nose.

The sleeping man wrinkled his face into a grimace. The sunshine persisted. Bannister emitted a sound between a grunt and a grumble, turned on his side. For a moment he lay peacefully, but his movement aroused him. His eyes opened two narrow slits.

He frowned at the light. Then the eyes opened wider. Bannister looked about him, bewildered.

He was not, as he had been dreaming, in a subterranean cavern. Adele Allen was not beside him, wearing a green costume, brandishing a revolver and threatening to shoot him if he did not help her escape from the giant canary bird pursuing her. The rest of the horrid vision faded and Bannister was tremendously relieved.

He was not a murderer or accused of murder. Melvina Hollister was not there, nor a jaunty vaudeville singer who said his name was Gainey.

Bannister sat up with a start. The thought of Gainey brought the events of the preceding day before him clearly. No wonder he had dreamed of murder and murderers! In his imaginings the figure of Gainey, the Post reporter, had merged into that of Tracy King, the orchestra leader. But it was King who had been murdered. Bannister remembered that. He remembered the brownish stain on the carpet of the hotel bedroom. He remembered, too, that he had promised Jim Paxton to work on the murder story for the Post.

Bannister pulled his wrist watch toward him and saw that it was nearly 8:30. A fine hour to be waking! Gainey had been on the job for at least half an hour. Probably longer. Yes, a fine hour it was to be getting up and a fine lot of help he, David Bannister, was to the Post. He stood up, realizing that he was tired. Too much running around yesterday. He wasn't used to it. The whole idea was a pack of nonsense.

But by the time he had finished his shower David Bannister's spirits were rising. He could hardly wait to see the morning newspaper to find out if any new developments in the murder had been reported. Newspaper training reasserted itself and he was eager to know if the morning paper, the opposition, had scored a beat of any sort.

He came downstairs whistling, crossed the dining room and appeared in the kitchen doorway.

"Morning, Aunt Kate!"
Aunt Kate looked up, then went on removing golden brown slices of French toast from a smoking skillet. "Morning," she said crisply. "Go on into the dining room. David, breakfast'll be on the table in a second."

Bannister located the newspaper on the living room table and opened out the pages. There was plenty about the King murder, but there was nothing that Bannister did not know. It gave him a feeling of relief. He was glad to know nothing important had happened while he was asleep. Headlines told of the search for "another suspect" whose name was not given. Drugan's story was credited to a "close friend of the dead man," also anonymous. Apparently no one on the rival newspaper had heard of Matthew and Melvina Hollister's connection with the case. At least it was not mentioned.

There was nothing new in the columns about the murder but Bannister read them eagerly. Half way through the story of the new suspect, he was interrupted.

"David!"
It was his aunt calling and Aunt Kate would brook no delay at meal time.

"Coming!" Bannister answered. An instant later he appeared in the dining room, the newspaper in his hand.

The odor of fried ham and coffee and the French toast won him from his preoccupation, however. "Aunt Kate," he began, "there's not another cook like you in the whole country!"

She stopped him with a glance. "Never mind the flattery," she said. "May you've something to say, David Bannister, about what you were doing all day yesterday. Lighting out after breakfast and not showing up again until midnight! I thought it was rest you came to Tremont for!"

While she had been talking he was pouring the coffee. Now she handed him a cup.

Bannister grinned. He didn't mind being addressed as though he were a 14-year-old. "It was like old times. 'Important business,' he told her. 'I've got a job.'"

"A what?"
"I've got a job. A respectable one. Newspaper reporter. I'm working on The Post."

Kate Hewlett waited. "Well!" she asked when he did not continue.

"That's all there is to it. Jim Paxton offered me a job on The Post and I took it. I'm working on this murder case."

The elevation of Mrs. Hewlett's eyebrows was expressive. "So that's it," she said. "You couldn't keep out of it! Something dis-graceful and—criminal happens, like a murder, and you couldn't keep out of it. I don't approve of this, David. I don't approve of it at all!"

But she didn't mean that. There was no disapproval in her voice and none in her eager eyes as she asked a moment later, "David—who do they think did it?"

"Oh, I don't know. It's hard to say now."

Mrs. Hewlett frowned. "I don't mean this man they've got locked in jail," she persisted, "or the other one they're looking for." (Bannister noted she had missed none of the details of the morning newspaper account.) "Isn't there paired in the kitchen doorway.

"Morning, Aunt Kate!"

Aunt Kate looked up, then went on removing golden brown slices of French toast from a smoking skillet. "Morning," she said crisply. "Go on into the dining room. David, breakfast'll be on the table in a second."

always," Mrs. Hewlett said, "one special one the police know is guilty? Isn't there always one they don't tell anything about?"

"Sometimes," Bannister nodded, "but I don't think there is in this case. The whole thing's a muddle."

"But who do you think did it?" He smiled. "Aunt Kate, I'm not smart enough to study a murder for five or six hours and then unerringly point out the guilty person. And—he paused thoughtfully—I don't think there's anyone else in Tremont who can do that either."

Bannister finished his breakfast briefly and took the car down town. It was 10 o'clock by the time he reached the city room of the Post. Paxton was not in sight. Austin, the assistant city editor, was busy at his desk and there was no one else about whom Bannister knew. Without waiting, he went on to central headquarters.

THE officer at the desk recognized him and Bannister nodded. He went on into the corridor, almost bumping into Cunningham who came flying down the stairs.

"Listen," Cunningham said tersely, "tell Gainey I'm going out with Murphy, will you? Some kind of a holdup out in the Heights. Tell him—"

"Sure," said Bannister, "but where'll I find him?"

Cunningham motioned toward the stairs. "Up there," he said. "They're all up there. Did you know they've got the girl? Gainey's phoning the office now."

He would have gone but Bannister caught his arm. "What girl?" he demanded. "You mean—?"

"That blond dame they were looking for. I've got to beat it now!"

Cunningham was gone. In a dozen strides Bannister made the top of the stairs. A man in a dark suit and a janitor were the only ones in sight.

"I'm looking for Gainey of the Post," Bannister said to the janitor. "Have you seen him?"

The man motioned toward a half-opened door and Bannister hurried toward it. He heard Gainey's voice before he saw him. Gainey and three others were in the room. One man was whittling a lead pencil and the others were talking over telephones. Gainey's voice was louder, more excited than the rest.

Bannister said to the man who was whittling, "I understand they've found the girl they were looking for."

The stranger nodded. "Anyone talk to her?" Bannister asked.

"She won't talk."

"Where is she?"

The other motioned with his head. A figure passed the door and Bannister recognized it. "McNeal," he called, hurrying outside. "Oh, Captain McNeal!"

There was considerable head-shaking but Bannister finally had his way. Ten minutes later he passed through a barred door into a wide corridor. There was another barred door and then a woman in blue directed him toward a row of cells.

The first cell was unoccupied. The woman in the second was fat. Her hair was brown and she was asleep. Bannister walked slowly. He came to the third cell and the fourth and then he stopped.

Gray eyes looked at him through the steel bars. "Oh!" the girl said. "It's you!"

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN
©1933 NIA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Who killed TRACY KING, orchestra leader found dead in his apartment?
DAVID BANNISTER, a Chicago former newspaper reporter, undertakes to find out.
Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King shortly before his death. Bannister has seen the girl, but she has since disappeared.
HERMAN SCURLACH, who wrote King a threatening letter, is in jail. He declares his innocence. AL DRUGAN, friend of King's, says the orchestra leader has been having trouble with JOE PARROTT, his former vaudeville partner, and accuses Parrott of the murder. Police learn that MELVINA HOLLISS, middle-aged spinster, had a violent quarrel with King after he killed her canary.
CAPTAIN MCNEAL of the detective bureau goes to see Miss RILEY and two narrow slits. THREW. When he leaves he declares, "Those two will bear watching."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XX

THE girl who had called herself Juliet France arose from the cot on which she had been sitting and came forward. If Bannister had expected to find her weeping he was mistaken. The gray eyes he had seen filled with tears met his own steadily, disdainfully. There were no tear marks on her cheeks. The girl's whole attitude was defiant.

"So it's you," she said. "What a surprise!"

"I just heard you were here," he told her. "Yesterday when I went back to the hotel I couldn't find you—"

"No, I suppose you couldn't. I wasn't there." She laughed then and Bannister was sure the defiance, the cool aloofness was a pose. The laugh wasn't convincing. This girl was not hardened; she was frightened. Once more Bannister felt his better judgment leaving him.

"I came," he said, "to see if there was anything I could do."

"But there isn't! Nothing at all. And why should you do anything? This is—such a pleasant place."

The girl laughed again and this time her lips trembled. "Perhaps I should apologize for my appearance," she went on. "The accommodations and the service here—"

"Don't!" Bannister said shortly. He didn't want her to go on like that. She was still wearing the green suit. She had taken off the jacket and he saw that her blouse was of the same shade. It was a silk blouse, made with a bow beneath the chin that gave her a childlike look. Her lovely, honey-colored hair was not as smooth as it had been yesterday but it gleamed and glistened. Bannister thought of Denise Lang's crisp, metallic ringlets. The way this girl wore her hair, he thought, was much more attractive.

"What happened?" he asked. "How long have you been here?"

"Since last night."

"Last night? You mean you were here in this cell—?"

The girl nodded. "Oh, yes," she said. "The lady on your left there snored. There was one here last night who was worse. She kept shrieking the most terrible things. They took her away awhile ago. Oh, there's been plenty of excitement. The detectives keep asking me questions and they've taken my finger prints—"

Her fingers, where they rested against the cell bars were white and gracefully formed.

"See here!" Bannister interrupted. "There must be something I can do. Someone to get in touch with!"

THE girl shook her head. For an instant the gray eyes held his. "There's no one," she said. "The hand that had rested against the bars fluttered to her mouth."

"But there must be!" Bannister insisted.

The girl continued to eye him. "Yesterday," she said, "you promised to help me. I was afraid and ran away. That was a mistake—"

Bannister glanced over his shoulder. The woman in the blue uniform was far down the corridor. There was no one to overhear.

"Where did you go?" he asked. She hesitated, then went on slowly. "I thought someone was following me. That frightened me and I left the hotel. I didn't know where to go or what to do. Then I saw a department store. I wanted to buy something different to wear so I went in but I thought people were staring at me. I went into the rest room and it was quiet there. Not many people came in. I found a magazine and stayed there, trying to read, until time for the store to close."

"Then I went to the railway station. I stayed in the women's room for awhile. About 9 o'clock when I went out to buy a ticket a man came to the window and showed me a police badge. He said he was a detective and that I'd have to come with him. He brought me here and— I've been here ever since."

The girl turned away and Bannister noticed the grace of her shoulders. It was a grace that is not acquired, a grace that speaks of family and breeding. There was poise and dignity in that slight movement.

Bannister thought, "This is the last place on earth to find such a girl!"

But she was there nevertheless. Bannister shifted uneasily, aware that he was facing a situation for which he had no solution. He wanted to help the girl and did not know how. He wanted to believe she was innocent of wrongdoing and could not quite manage it.

He said, "Listen, Miss France—"

AT THAT she whirled. "Oh," she exclaimed, "I'd forgotten! Please don't tell them my name. I'd forgotten that I told anyone. You're the only one who knows it. Please don't tell them!"

"But they must have asked you!"

"I wouldn't tell them," the girl said stiffly. "I wouldn't tell them anything at all. They'll never be able to make me!"

He tried to reason with her, to persuade her that it would be much better for her if she would talk to the detectives freely.

"I can't," the girl insisted stubbornly. "I can't do it."

"But don't you see that so long as you don't they'll keep you here?"

"Then I'll stay."

The woman in the blue uniform was making her way toward them. "Visiting time's up," she announced. "You'll have to go, Mister."

The woman waited beside him and there was nothing for Bannister to do but to leave.

"I'll come back," he promised over his shoulder. "And I want you to think about what I've said."

Then he was outside and the heavy door bolted behind him. Slowly Bannister made his way back to Captain McNeal's office.

What a mess this whole thing was! Tracy King's murder was as far from solution as it had been when his body was found. The police were going around in circles, getting nowhere. That girl back there—Bannister swore softly. He couldn't believe she was so muddled. And yet there was so much to prove it. She had been in King's apartment, had admitted it. If McNeal knew about the revolver—I Bannister swore again. By this time it was altogether possible that McNeal did know. He might even have the gun. If he did, and the ballistics expert could prove that the bullet that killed the orchestra leader came from that revolver, it would be over. The girl he had just left wouldn't have a chance. She'd get life at least. Refusing to talk, to say anything about herself, made the situation worse. She was a pretty girl but in spite of that no jury could overlook such overwhelming evidence.

OVERWHELMING was what it was. Then it occurred to Bannister, piecing out the damaging facts and marshalling them before him, that his testimony and his alone could convict Juliet France. He had seen her come from the hotel, had seen the revolver in her handbag. It was to him that the girl had confessed going to King's apartment. Yes, those facts—even though they were circumstantial—were enough for a conviction. Men have been hanged for less.

Suddenly Bannister stepped forward more briskly. Maybe they would succeed in making a case against the girl but he was certain of one thing. What he knew about Juliet France he would keep to himself. If she was a murderess time would prove it. He didn't want to believe it and he wasn't going to—yet.

He thought of Jim Paxton then and his promise. Bannister had agreed to turn over to Gainey everything he learned about the murder so that Gainey might write it for the Post. Well, he would keep that promise but he would keep it later.

In the wing of the headquarters building reserved for the detectives' offices Bannister counted the young man who had given him the information about Juliet France, the young man who had been whittling his pencil.

"My name's Flemming," the stranger volunteered. "Understand you're with the Post."

"Yes," Bannister told him. They talked for a few minutes and Bannister learned that his new acquaintance was a reporter on the opposition evening paper, that this was Flemming's day off duty but he was "hanging around" spending a bus man's holiday.

He learned further that McNeal had intended keeping secret the apprehension of his blond prisoner, but that someone had "spilled" it. That was why there had been no mention in the morning newspaper of the girl's imprisonment.

Gainey appeared a few minutes later, eager to talk about the case. He and Bannister spent the rest of the morning at headquarters but the time proved fruitless. At 12 o'clock Gainey left for the office. Bannister drifted out for lunch and presently was back.

Thus it happened that at 2 o'clock he was present when a surprising thing took place.

PRINCETON TEAM RULED OUT AS A BOWL OPPONENT

Board of Control Has Ruled Against Post Season Contests

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Princeton's undefeated and untied football team today had been ruled out of all consideration for the Rose Bowl assignment against Stanford.

In a surprising move, the Princeton Board of Athletic Control yesterday re-affirmed the university's policy against post-season games and announced that the Tigers, prominently mentioned as possible rivals for Stanford, would not be available for the New Year's Day classic at Pasadena.

The board pointed out that post-season games in any sport were specifically prohibited in an agreement Yale and Princeton signed in 1923 and renewed in 1927.</

GOOD THOUGHTS

What real joy may be found in conversation with a true friend! Every conversation is an opportunity to do good and to be helpful. And helpful conversation may sparkle with wit and good humor; and it need never be tedious or uninteresting. There are so many events transpiring today of keen interest to us all; so much of progress, so much of joy that all may be worthy topics of discussion.

—The Christian Science Monitor

There is nothing so delightful as the hearing, or the speaking of the truth. For this reason, there is no conversation so agreeable as that of the man of integrity, who hears without intention to betray, and speaks without intention to deceive.

—Plato

There comes Emerson, first, whose rich words, every one.

Are like gold nails in temples to hang trophies on.

—Lowell

For one word a man is often deemed to be wise, and for one word he is often deemed to be foolish. We ought to be careful indeed what we say.

—Confucius

Who is a wise man and ennobled with knowledge among you, let him shew out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom.

—James 3.

Standing shoulder to shoulder in grim silence, their bayonets thrust forward, state militiamen are pictured in this striking scene at Salsburg, Md., as they held at bay crowds bent on freeing four men seized for their alleged part in the lynching of George Armwood, young Negro accused of attacking an aged white woman. The troops were sent at the order of Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland.

Moore of Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krug and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Schaffer were guests of Mrs. Schaffer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George VanNess over the holiday.

Plans for the operation of the cheese factory in Ashton are under way, with December 1 as the date set for the beginning of the plant. Mr. Leuzinger, a Swiss by birth, and for many years engaged in cheese making will have charge of the business and will require no less than 3,000 pounds of milk each day. The Weishaar building has been secured for the business.

Mr. Haas, who has been purchasing cream from local producers since early in the summer plans to move his equipment to Freeport where he is engaged in the manufacture of butter. The supply of cream which he was able to purchase in the community did not make operations profitable enough to continue the business locally, so the equipment is being moved to Freeport where Mr. Haas is engaged in the manufacture of butter.

Mr. Hoerth has been in charge of the local station.

The CWA was formed so that none would go hungry in a land of plenty. But in addition to the nearly complete realization of that purpose there will undoubtedly be other important results.

First of all, in terms of dollars and cents, the project will cost millions, perhaps billions, of dollars. As a result, the American people will find themselves, as a group, farther in debt than before the program was launched.

This is true, but it is only a part of the whole truth. To get the proper perspective we must search deeper. We may find the debt justifiable, and the money well spent, if not spent needfully.

Many of our countrymen are without the essentials of life; of that there is no question. It is the duty of government to supply food for these people, and here, again, no argument can exist. In a state where practically all property is privately owned, a government, in seeking to provide for the needy, must first buy from private individuals. And this with money provided solely through taxation.

So, it is the duty of government to see to it that its people are allowed to live; and the only way it can do this if it has no surplus (funds) is to borrow money, and thus go into debt. But there is something deeper in the matter than the question of mere life.

In times of economic abasement, things for "the joy of the soul" are neglected. These things are music, art, and various other forms of human efforts which are not wholly necessary for life. But these things are essential to human happiness. If the civil works administrators by employing these neglected artists (and thus encouraging and perpetuating their work) helps to keep America from returning to a point akin to savagery, it will have done a great work.

Moreover, there is the economic angle, involving the "priming" of the recovery pump. It goes without saying that factories turning out few of their product must sell those few at a higher price than they would demand if they were manufacturing great numbers of the article with the same equipment.

An abasement cuts demand and raises prices. As the prices are raised, the demand is further diminished, which again raises the prices. This continues indefinitely, and the only thing to stop it is increased markets, or (which is the same thing) increased buying power of the prospective consumers.

Buying power must be increased to reduce those prices which cannot in any other way be brought down without wrecking American industry. If "priming" will do this, who can conscientiously impede the efforts toward that end?

Soldiers' Bayonets Stay Angry Mob

Standing shoulder to shoulder in grim silence, their bayonets thrust forward, state militiamen are pictured in this striking scene at Salsburg, Md., as they held at bay crowds bent on freeing four men seized for their alleged part in the lynching of George Armwood, young Negro accused of attacking an aged white woman. The troops were sent at the order of Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland.

Moore of Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krug and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Schaffer were guests of Mrs. Schaffer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George VanNess over the holiday.

Plans for the operation of the cheese factory in Ashton are under way, with December 1 as the date set for the beginning of the plant. Mr. Leuzinger, a Swiss by birth, and for many years engaged in cheese making will have charge of the business and will require no less than 3,000 pounds of milk each day. The Weishaar building has been secured for the business.

Mr. Haas, who has been purchasing cream from local producers since early in the summer plans to move his equipment to Freeport where he is engaged in the manufacture of butter. The supply of cream which he was able to purchase in the community did not make operations profitable enough to continue the business locally, so the equipment is being moved to Freeport where Mr. Haas is engaged in the manufacture of butter.

Mr. Hoerth has been in charge of the local station.

The CWA was formed so that none would go hungry in a land of plenty. But in addition to the nearly complete realization of that purpose there will undoubtedly be other important results.

First of all, in terms of dollars and cents, the project will cost millions, perhaps billions, of dollars. As a result, the American people will find themselves, as a group, farther in debt than before the program was launched.

This is true, but it is only a part of
